The Bardstown Bourbon Company Plantation Rum Barrel Finished Bourbon is the latest in the BBC's Collaborative Series. This time, the folks at the BBC have started with a 10 year old Tennessee bourbon. They then finished it in Plantation Rum barrels for 22 months. The Tennessee bourbon is a blend of 84% corn, 8% rye and 8% malted barley. The Plantation Rum is actually owned by Maison Ferrand, the famed producer of Ferrand Cognac. Bardstown Company, has used Ferrand in the past, with their Cognac Finished bourbon. The fans liked this so much that BBC has now created their highly anticipated rum finished bourbon.
