DESCRIPTION:

Daviess County Bourbon might've originated in famed Daviess County, Kentucky, but it now calls Lux Row Distillers home. Lux Row Distillers is a newcomer to the Kentucky Bourbon Trail, located just a few counties east in Bardstown,

There, Daviess County Bourbon was reimagined to honor the past and celebrate the future: a purpose which rings true for Lux Row and its family of spirits, including Rebel Bourbon, Ezra Brooks, David Nicholson, and Blood Oath.

This limited-edition, small-batch bourbon whiskey is finished in fresh Missouri White Oak barrels with a #2 char and toasted heads. The car and toast combination adds rich dark chocolate and caramel notes to the finished product. It was developed in partnership with Ducks Unlimited and, like all Daviess County variants, it is a mix of ryed and wheated bourbons and is 96 proof.

DESCRIPTION:

Sweeten's Cove is a 9-hole track at the end of a gravel road in the Sequatchie Valley, and has been referred to as golf's "Field of Dreams." A group of friends purchased Sweeten's Cove in 2019 knowing that it was a rare, magical place to be protected, preserved and shared.

Sweetens never boasted a clubhouse, or even plumbing, but still was one of the most-acclaimed sporting experiences in the world and was building its own traditions. One of those – a celebratory shot of whiskey for first-timers on the first tee.

The friends have been inspired by this special place, the unique traditions and the love of Tennessee that comes to life with every visit. So, they set out to create a Bourbon that is much like the spirit of Sweetens – artisan, premium and to be discovered.
