Priest Ranch believes that all wines must stem from the land itself. Director of Winemaking and Viticulture Craig Becker and Winemaker Cody Hurd draw on their rich, diverse estate vineyard to bring the Priest Ranch wines to life. Featuring a variety of elevations, exposures, soils, and microclimates, their estate provides fruit with uncommon quality and character for all of the Priest Ranch wines.

TASTING NOTES:

"The 2018 Snake Oil has a beautiful deep and rich ruby color. On the nose, there are pleasant complex aromas of earth and spice with notes of warm chocolate mocha. Hints of blueberry, black cherries, and berry cobbler immediately scream from the glass. This wine has muscular tannins that grip at the beginning and linger to a beautiful silky-long finish." – Cody Hurd, winemaker

Larkmead Vineyards is one of the oldest family-owned establishments in Napa Valley. Originally founded in 1895, the Larkmead Estate is now under the stewardship of the Solari-Baker family. Kate and Cam Baker have been the dynamic force behind Larkmead's transformation from a historic vineyard into a world-renowned wine estate. In 2005 they built the first phase of a state-of-the-art winery on the property. This project allowed each vineyard block to have its own dedicated vinification tank. To say the least, they were way ahead of their time.

TASTING NOTES:

"Deep garnet-purple colored, it leaps from the glass with redcurrant jelly, blackberry preserves, and fresh blackcurrant scents, plus hints of sautéed herbs, damp soil, tapenade, and truffles. The medium to full-bodied palate is finely textured with lovely freshness to lift the generous fruit, delivering a savory finish." – Wine Advocate
