Originally founded by Bounty Hunter, the Justice offerings feature five distinctly individual expressions of Napa Valley terroir at its finest. Featuring two of Napa's most heralded single-vineyard sites, Beckstoffer's To Kalon and Dr. Crane vineyards, these wines spotlight the true expression of each site and the varietals that have helped make this region famous. Combined with high accolades from Parker's The Wine Advocate, among many others, it's no surprise the Justice wines carry a distinctive legacy on their own. The 2015 Blind Justice is 100% Beckstoffer To Kalon Cabernet Sauvignon and is a perfect snapshot into Napa Valley's rich history.

According to James Suckling, this baby is ready to go and in its absolute prime. So, we are bringing it back for your drinking pleasure. Deep blue and black fruits, Ancho chiles, and mocha spice define this full-bodied and very long wine with an even longer life ahead of it. Suckling loved its "Plenty of dried fruit and a fresh mushroom character with some bark underneath. Full body, round and velvety tannins and a flavorful finish. A solid and structured 2015."

Alejandro Bulgheroni is a lifelong rancher who was drawn toward the world of wine for its profound connection with the land. It was a foray into green energy that first led him to the ballast soils of his ranch in Garzon, Uruguay, and inspired his new passion. It's a passion he's followed to California, Australia, Bordeaux and Tuscany, exploring the depths of variety in the terroir and the vines. Today, Alejandro Bulgheroni Family Vineyards span some of the world's best-loved terroirs and stands as one of the largest organic producers in Italy. Dievole represents the best of Italy with its exceptional Chianti Classico, but also with premium olive oil and five-star hospitality that should keep this estate on your radar for future travels.

This is a rich, ebullient Chianti Classico crafted from 40-year-old vines on an heirloom property lovingly restored by Alejandro Bulgheroni. The wine fills the room with classic aromas of dusty red cherries and earth alongside red roses and toasted, spicy almonds. On the palate, red fruit dominates, supported by mineral nuances that make for a refreshing treat while mature, lasting tannins satisfy on a long, pleasant finish.

Fred and Juelle Fisher started it all back in the 70s when they planted their first vineyards and were married amongst the vines. Over the years, their endeavor has been blessed by the best talents, with Paul Hobbs in the cellar and David Abreu in the fields. Nestled at high elevation on the western face of the Mayacamas Mountains, with complementary vineyards on the Silverado Trail, the Fishers produce Chardonnay, Cabernet Sauvignon and Merlot. Still a family affair, the Fisher children currently steer the boat, each filling a role as the tide continues to rise for their exceptional estate. After two decades of winemaking, Whitney Fisher now oversees the vineyards as Adam Goodrich and team turn the treasured estate fruit into world class wines.

Up until 1991, this tiny production was made solely for the personal enjoyment of Dr. Robert Lamb, Juelle's father. The 10-acre vineyard consistently yields small quantities of fruit with rich, concentrated flavors, so there's rarely enough to go around. The 2016 was a particularly nice vintage and shows incredible crème de cassis, crushed violet, and graphite aromas, leading into a full-bodied wine of tremendous elegance and purity with ultra-fine tannins and a velvet texture.

DESCRIPTION:

State of Mind is a winery without a nation, a Traveling Wilburys of winemaking bent on limitless collaboration between vintners, sommeliers and wine-world veterans. The goal is something greater than the sum of its very impressive parts. Each member of the group has a unique background and preference when it comes to wine. Between early harvests, mentors and travels, it's easy to fall into a familiar track that always leads to the same place. Through collaboration and argument, contributors can challenge their own assumptions and predispositions to discover something new and exciting about an ancient art. In the end, the wines are better for it, showing tension, vibrancy and movement, always with a deep respect for the chosen fruit and terroir.

For State of Mind's first vintage of Pinot Noir, they chose a celebrated vineyard in the Dundee region of the Willamette Valley. They wanted to craft a wine that honored the classic, old world styling of a Burgundy while taking full advantage of the Pacific Northwest's unique terroir and keeping that New World approachability. The palate is fresh and juicy with plums falling into denser, more rich flavors with time in the glass.

DESCRIPTION:

New York held no romance for Italian Immigrant Mario Trinchero. He was more of a grapevine man than a big-apple type, so he headed west to Napa Valley and purchased an abandoned, Prohibition-era winery in St. Helena. Two decades or so later, the family's single-vineyard Zinfandels were meeting wide critical acclaim but it was next generation winemaker Bob Trinchero's invention of "White Zinfandel" that would take the world by storm and grant the Trincheros the influence and funds they needed to expand, collecting acres of estate vineyards across St. Helena, Mt. Veer, Atlas Peak and Rutherford. In 2004, the family returned to its roots and a focus on serious, boutique wines of exceptional quality made with estate fruit that would make Mario Trinchero proud.

2016 was a near perfect growing season, and the opportunity was not lost on Trinchero. Notes of violet, mocha, dark cherries and raspberry jam greet the nose. The palate is lush with blueberry, blackberry and dark chocolate while the tannins are weighty but polished. The new French oak adds lovely balance as the soft, youthful wine flows to a lingering, silky finish laced with black pepper and tobacco. Perfection now, this will drink beautifully for another five years.

DESCRIPTION:
Penfolds is a known quantity for quality, with its famed Grange among the most revered wines in the world. A story of success in Australia since 1844, Mary Penfold carried the winery towards dominance, producing 1/3 of all South Australian wine by the time she handed the reins to her daughter in 1884. The 1950’s creation of Grange, perfected in secret by winemaker Max Schubert, cemented their reputation on the world stage. That spirit of adventure is reborn today with the unveiling of Penfolds’ California experiment. Over two decades ago, Penfolds winemakers imported heritage cuttings from their esteemed South Australian vineyards and planted them in California soil, bringing two hemispheres together under one top-flight team.

Savory expressions lead the charge with notes of bay leaf, wild thyme and seared meat. Classic Penfolds Black Forest cake and glazed cherries hint at the origin of the vines over a strong, fruit-driven core. The palate is pure silk as the dark Cabernet fruit continues its flow and expresses its Napa Valley terroir with confidence. Pomegranate acidity contributes liveliness, dovetailing nicely with subtle, spicy oak. Shy in its youth, we highly recommend tucking this away for a few years in a cool cellar.
