DESCRIPTION:

The Glendalough Distillery was set up by a group of friends from Wicklow and Dublin with a passion for reviving the heritage of craft distilling in Ireland. After many evenings of banter and debate over why there weren't more craft distilleries in the birthplace of distilling, the friends convinced each other to leave the safety of their day jobs and head into the mountains to take a chance on something more meaningful. Together they built a craft distillery near their favorite spot in those mountains, Glendalough.

TASTING NOTES:

Color: Light amber

Aroma: Vibrant and fruity aromas, notes of citrus, wildflowers, and spice

Palate: Full-bodied with a note of bittersweet chocolate, and cinnamon

Finish: Lingering notes of chocolate and spices
